Each node represents a protein and each edge represents the physical interactions between the two end nodes. Red rectangular nodes are input seeds and ellipse nodes are intermediate nodes connecting the seeds. Size of a node is proportional to its score.